Wripple's breakthrough On-Demand Marketing Talent Platform provides teams with the freedom to deliver top quality marketing and experience projects, while overcoming today's constraints.

The platform's marketplace connects brands with highly skilled, on-demand talent for greater speed, efficiency and flexibility. Clients can find and hire both individual freelancers as well as ready-made project teams. Curated teams are available for over 50 project types and individuals span 45+ unique roles across strategy, design, media, marketing and technology. The platform also automates many inefficient aspects of RFPs and contracting to get to market faster. Additionally, a dedicated Wripple Client Lead supports clients and talent to ensure projects are set up for success.

Increased delivery flexibility is also built into the platform. Clients can choose to have projects fully managed by a Wripple Engagement Lead, or they can 'self-serve' and manage the talent themselves. Especially important today, the platform provides options for on-site, fully remote, or hybrid project delivery. Wripple also helps with smooth onboarding through our Wripple Client Leads and tools. We take care of compliance, knowledge transfer, and access to assets. And in a future release Wripple will integrate with a client's existing workflow and project delivery tools to seamlessly manage the end-to-end process like never before.

Wripple strives to make the entire process easy for clients and talent. Both have unlimited access to the platform at no cost. Wripple holds all talent contracts and ensures talent gets paid on-time in whatever format they prefer. And through personalized dashboards, clients and freelancers have complete control over their relationship with Wripple. Ultimately, the platform's design blends technology and human touch to provide an experience that makes it easy to get great work done.
